THE NORTH COURTYARD WITH ITS LOVELY FOUNTAIN IS ONE OF THE MOST BEAUTIFUL SPOTS IN THE SCHOOL.

EACH DAY OUR LIBRARY WITH ITS CLASSIC PILLARS WELCOMES MANY PUPILS

Miss Curtis is shown, as we all knew her, sitting at her familiar desk in Room 317.

Dedication

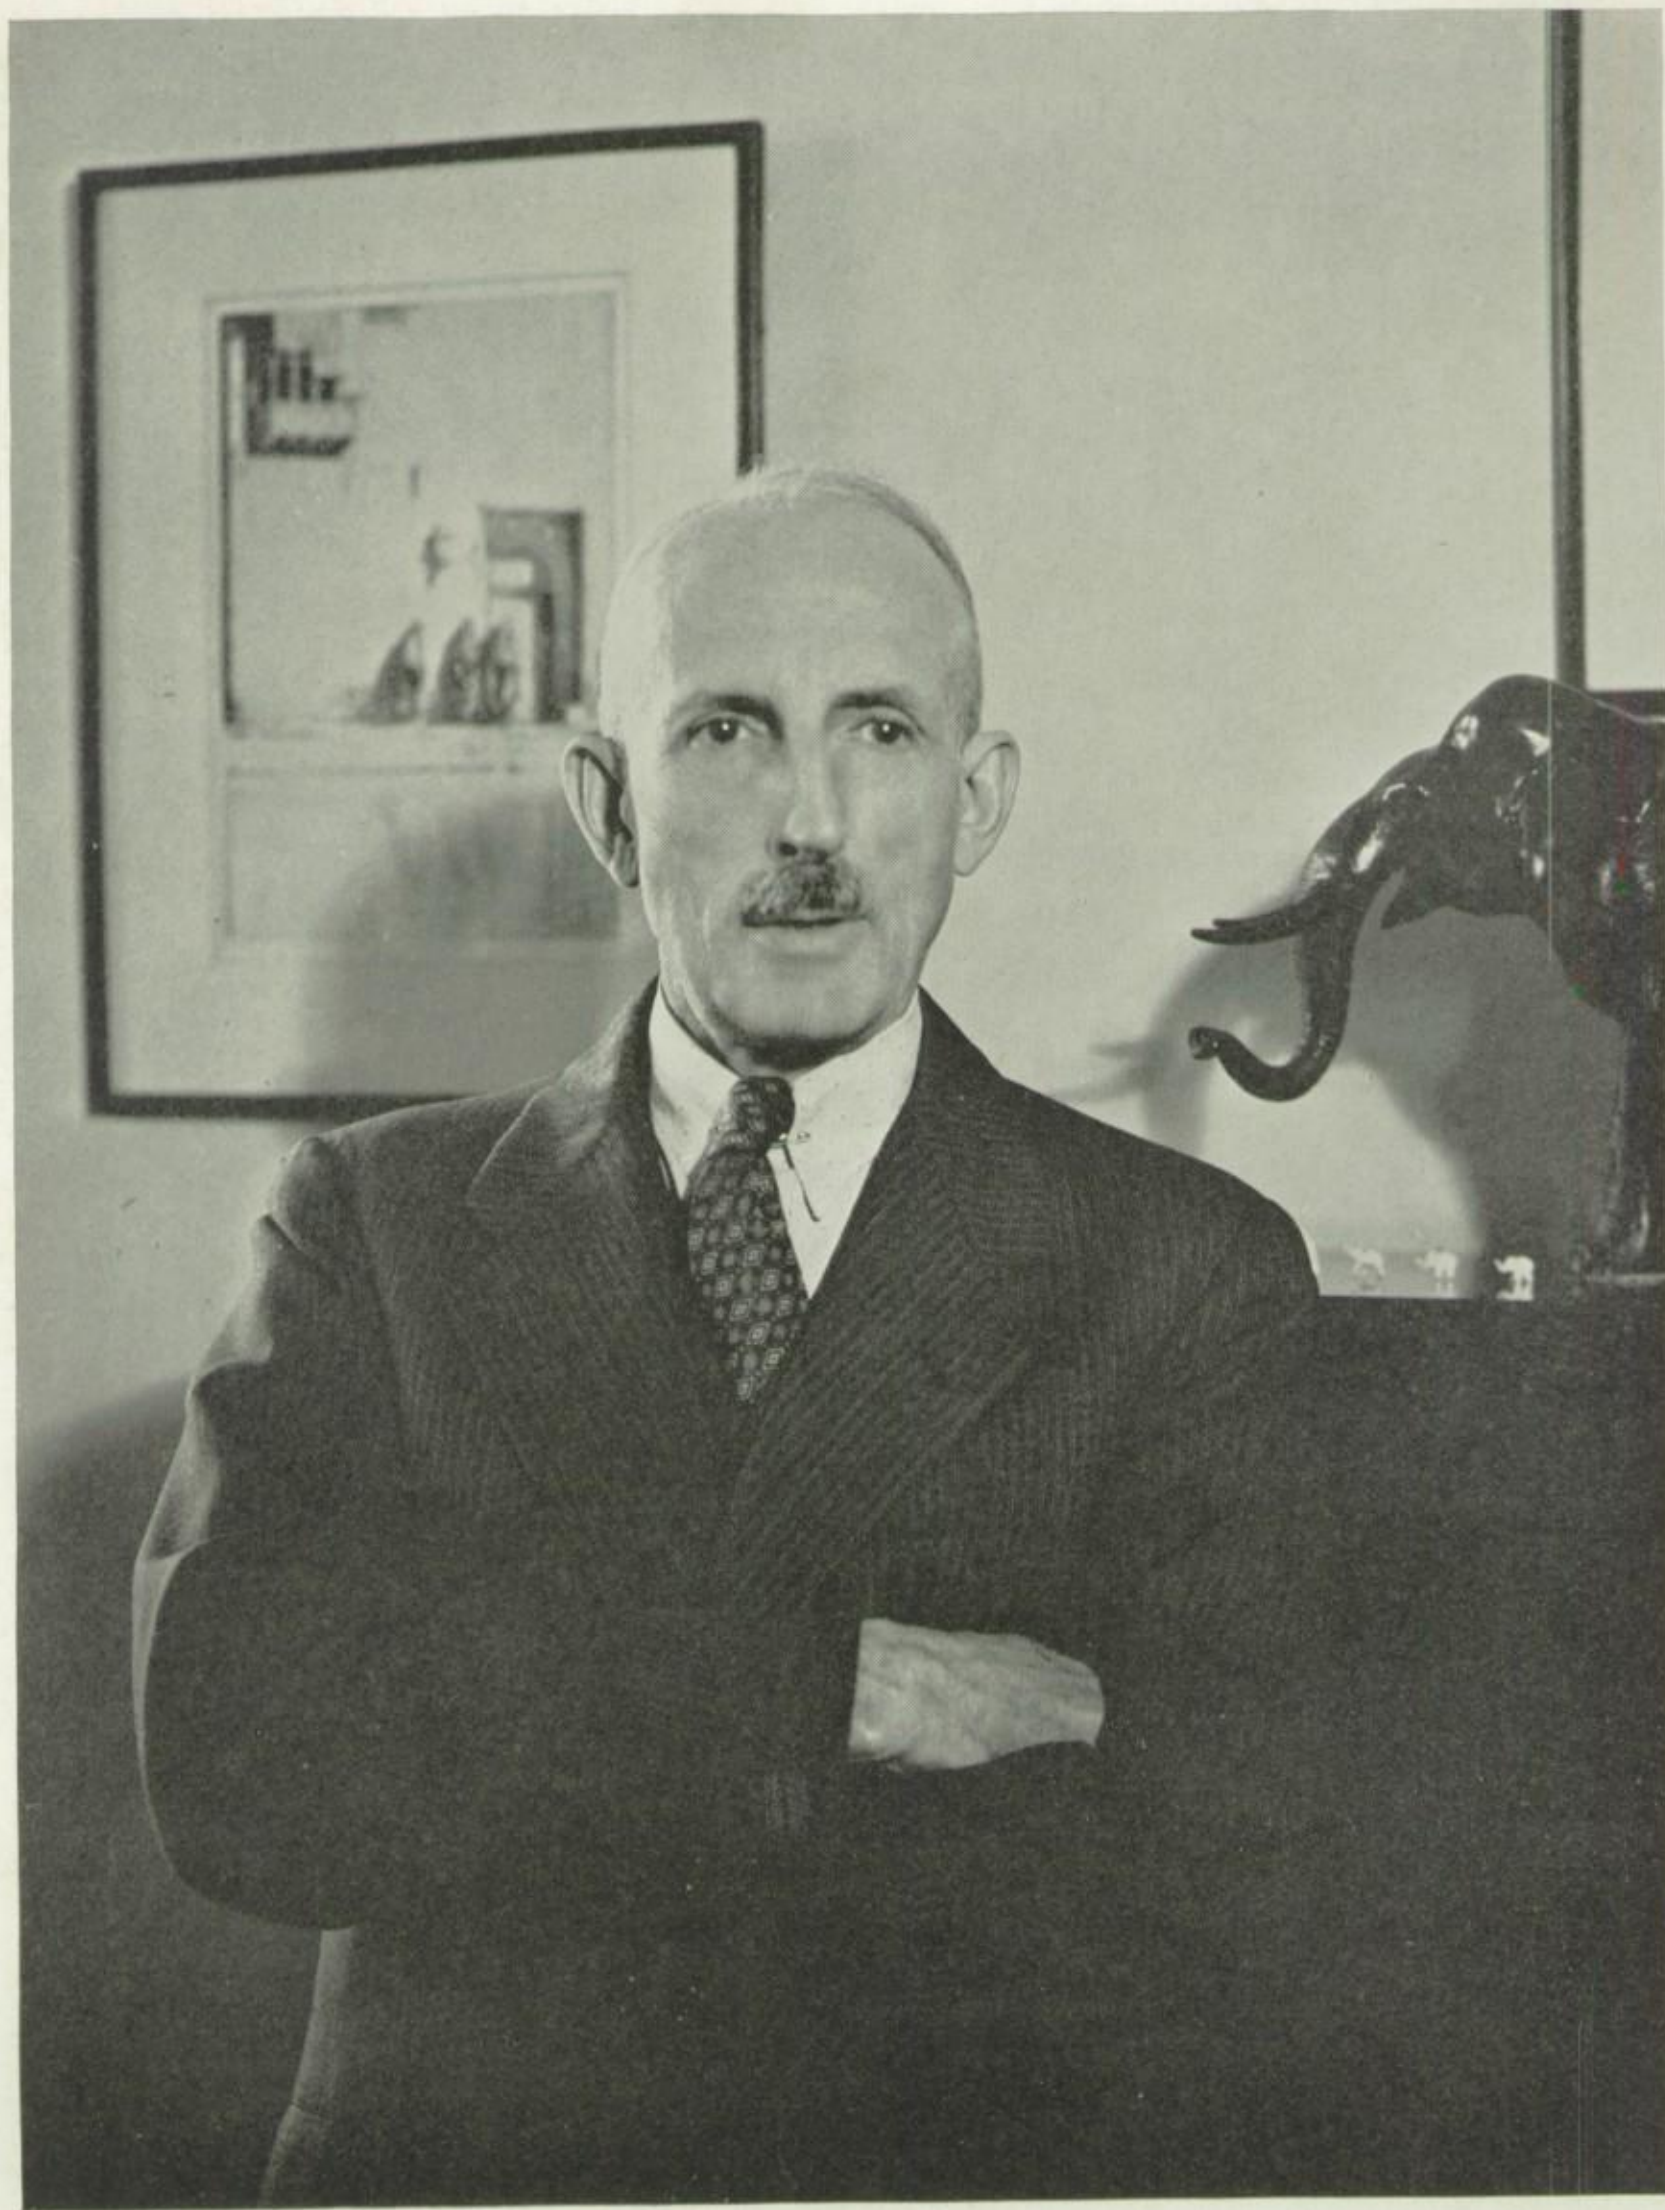

She was our friend . . .

that each of us can say who knew her, admired her, worked under her guidance.

She was our friend . . .

and on our onward way we will remember her and what she taught and how she strove to make this, our day, more full because she rendered up to us those things she knew.

The students of Walnut Hills dedicate the Remembrancer of 1944 to Miss A. Gertrude Curtis who died on the nineteenth of December, 1943 after twenty-two years as a teacher of history and eight years as the faculty advisor of the Student Council.

Mr. Leonard P. Stewart, our Principal, poses in his inner sanctum.

Education in Our Day

When the storm is at its height and the mariner casts anchor, he hopes and prays that the chain and anchor were forged by an honest artisan or mechanic. When trouble comes into the life of an individual as come it must, he meets his sorrow like a man or he bows before it ingloriously, all depending on the manner in which he had forged the chain of past years into a noble or an ignoble life.

When a nation meets a crisis on which its very existence depends, it is well for the people to take stock not only of the past but for the future. It will assist materially in evaluating the past and in planning for the future for the youth of the land to count their blessings, to be grateful for whatever good fortune they enjoy, and to determine that not only their generation but others to come shall inherit these privileges, these opportunities, and these freedoms.

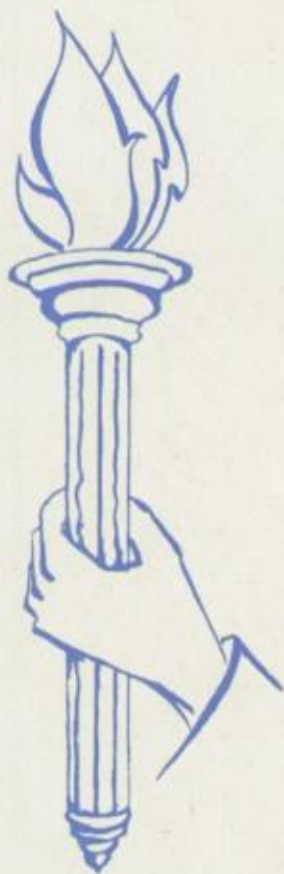

This year book should make us humble in that we should appreciate the fact that we are Americans; and it should make us hopeful that the best of what our flag and our nation stand for shall be preserved for posterity.

The great public school system of our country should make and does make these objectives of paramount importance in the education of the American youth:

1. A sound body and a clear mind.
2. A regard for the rights of others.
3. The ability to earn an honest living.
4. A desire to become a helpful member of the home community.
5. A sympathy for the unfortunate.
6. An intelligent appreciation and understanding of the principles that control and determine the society in which we live.
7. The ability to pick the right kind of leaders.
8. An unfaltering trust and belief in the ultimate triumph of good.

If our schools and our homes and our churches succeed in establishing these principles as ideals in the minds and hearts of the next generation, democracy will become a glorious reality.

Leonard P. Stewart.

THE ADMINISTRATION...

Amid the noise of typewriters and telephones, surrounded by mazes of records and program cards, the administrative body of Walnut Hills pulls the strings that make the school an organized and orderly institution for classical education. The myriad tasks that must be done to keep the routine running smoothly, the problems of opening the way to college to members of the graduating class, the organization of patriotic drives and sales, the guidance of boys entering the armed forces: all these duties and more fall to the administrative body. Their jobs are not glamorous but necessary; they form the rock foundation for the student's day.

Above: Dr. Senger pauses for a moment from his many labors to perch on his desk and grin at the camera.

Right: The efficient Miss Shigley and her assistant, Mrs. Kelley, lean over the desk in the main office to advise Jean Kaufman about some puzzling problem.

Right: Miss Casey, who is technically Dr. Senger's secretary, is an awe-inspiring disciplinarian but nevertheless a good friend to the students who call on her for aid.

Far Right: Mrs. Ewald, a newcomer to our school, has proved herself friendly and capable as secretary to Miss Clarke.

THE SMOOTH RUNNING OF THE SCHOOL DEPENDS ON THEM

Dr. Harry L. Senger, assistant principal and Dean of Boys, is a very busy man. His is the task of guiding and disciplining the boys of our school, of seeing that the complicated lunch schedules, the assemblies, and the before and after school traffic run without hitches. In addition to these duties, he is advisor to the Gleam and to the Hi-Y and takes an active interest in many other organizations.

Miss Olive M. Clarke, beloved by all "her girls" whom she counsels wisely, helps frequently, and reprimands occasionally, is Dean of Girls. Her wide knowledge of colleges, is an invaluable aid to girls going away to school. Her enthusiastic sponsorship of Red Cross activities, Big Sisters, Student Aid, and Girls League does not keep her from devoting her time and interests to all the activities in which the girls of the school take part.

Left: Miss Clarke is caught in a characteristic situation as she helps Sis Frazer in the difficult matter of choosing a college for next year.

HISTORY BECOMES IMPORTANT SUBJECT IN WORLD CRISIS

Above: Irwin Weil points to the map of Europe as he discusses current events with Miss Sanford, instructor of Modern History, and a group of history students.

AS IT TEACHES PAST AND APPLIES IT TO PRESENT

At Walnut Hills two credits in history are required for graduation. One of these credits may be earned in either ancient or modern history, and the other must be earned in American history, a required course in the twelfth grade. This year the history department suffered a severe loss, as did the entire school, at the death of Miss Curtis. Mrs. Jackson taught Miss Curtis's classes for a few months and was then replaced by Miss Dunphy, who will continue in this field. History is stressed more than ever in our school as well as in other high schools in these times of national emergency. By learning history pupils acquire judgment of present-day situations through the light of past ones and gain knowledge of trends of national and international economic importance.

LATIN RECEIVES A PROMINENT PLACE AT WALNUT HILLS

Walnut Hills is proud of its extensive Latin course. Here pupils are offered six years of Latin beginning in the seventh grade and continuing through the famous realms of Caesar, Cicero, Cornelius Nepos and Ovid, climaxed by the Aeneid of Virgil in the awe-inspiring course titled Latin 12 VI.

MODERN LANGUAGES CONTINUALLY GROW IN IMPORTANCE

The modern language department at Walnut Hills furnishes four year courses of study in German, French, and Spanish. Due to the increased importance of Pan-American relations, the Spanish classes have swollen many times their normal size. Since the United States has been engaged in war the number of German and French students have decreased considerably. Many students, however, are looking to the future and the time when the rehabilitation of the European countries will demand a knowledge of German and French. For each language there is a club composed of the more advanced pupils of the respective language. Below is pictured Mrs. Ashbrook and her fourth year class in room 217, famous for its beautiful murals of French life done by Mr. Paul Ashbrook.

ENGLISH CLASS TRIES DRAMATIZATION OF SHAKESPEARE

Above: Miss O'Hara's English III class reproduces a scene from Shakespeare's immortal Macbeth. Elizabeth Steadman, Marilyn Mall, Alice Wiley take the parts of the three witches as they hail Banquo, impersonated by Mark Voight, and Macbeth, played by Stanley Marks. The witches seem a trifle weak-voiced; and so Miss O'Hara leans over to give them some encouragement.

ENGLISH COURSE IS PLANNED FOR PROFIT AND PLEASURE

English is a required course at Walnut Hills but invariably a pleasure to those who take it. When a graduate recalls his four years of English and remembers Dickens's novels, A Midsummer Night's Dream, As You Like It, Julius Caesar, Macbeth, Hamlet, The Odyssey, biographies, poetry, he realizes the enjoyment and cultural development he has derived. Creative essays, short stories, and poetry draw forth the originality which is so abounding in the students of our school. The beauty of our language is made more lucid, the interpretation more meaningful, when we are guided so well in producing creative compositions and in our selection and treatment of valuable literature. Even the technicalities of grammar, the bane of all students, proves necessary and indispensable toward the greater appreciation of our "mother tongue."

Mathematics at Walnut Hills has always been a popular and major course. The great importance of this course, especially at a classical high school, and our excellent faculty are the factors to which this popularity can be attributed. The students beginning in the seventh grade take a compulsory elementary Math course, the majority of these students go on to algebra as they begin their high school years and many complete the complexities of trigonometry and solid geometry in their senior year. With the modern development of our day, our Math department has progressed accordingly. One of our comparatively new classes is the navigation class pictured below.

SCIENCE IS POPULAR . . .

Here at Walnut Hills High School an almost unlimited stress is put on Science and its many divisions. A large part of the field of Science is covered by eight different courses. These subjects and their respective teachers are as follows: physiology and botany, Miss Heis; zoology and biology, Miss Elberg; chemistry, Mr. Skilken and Mr. Leeds; physics and aeronautics, Mr. Lambert; general science, Mr. Caldwell.

Although the science courses are not easy here, they form an excellent foundation for more detailed college courses. In zoology and biology, the students actually dissect such animals as starfish, earthworms, and grasshoppers. In physics and chemistry they receive much valuable laboratory experience. In one of our newer courses, aeronautics, the basic meteorology necessary to pre-flight training is offered.

ART STUDENTS LEARN SELF EXPRESSION

Left: Miss Carmichael, Miss Bellville.

Walnut Hills students begin their study of art in the seventh grade with a free hand drawing class once a week. In the upper school art is purely optional, but a large number of students continue the study. The special art class which meets once a day and is a full credit subject is composed of the pick of the Walnut Hills crop of artists. Members of the class receive special training in oils. Work in ceramics is another integral part of the art department. This year, entries of the Walnut Hills students won the symphonic contest and took many places in the National Scholastic exhibition. Below are Mr. Dauterich and his special art students working on a problem in abstractions.

OUR DOMED LIBRARY IS THE NUCLEUS OF OUR SCHOOL

The Walnut Hills library stands as a monument and aid to learning. Every day hundreds of students enter the high-domed pillared room in search of references or pleasure reading. The split study hall period enables students to spend half of their free bells in study hall and half in the library, if they wish. Some classes, such as the sociology and economics class, spend one period a week doing reference work in the library instead of having recitation. Miss Carson and Miss Wilkinson, our able and sympathetic librarians, are always willing to help students with their reading material before, during, and after school.

MUSIC AND SPEECH RECEIVE EMPHASIS AT WALNUT HILLS

Above: Mr. Van Pelt, instructor of band, orchestra, and harmony; Mrs. Murphy, teacher of choral music.

Right: Miss Baechle and Miss Lotze, instructors of speech, debating, and dramatics.

The music and speech departments of Walnut Hills offer untold opportunities both during and after school. Under the auspices of the speech department the Shakespearean play and several other productions are given during the year. This department works with microphones, transcriptions, and radio beside the regular oral exercises. Outlets for actual experience are arranged on radio programs, in assemblies, and in debate competition. The music department instructs the regular music and harmony classes and sponsors the glee club, choir, and other vocal groups and the orchestra and band. Some of the activities these groups take part in each year are the inspiring Christmas assembly, church services and other special programs, and the annual spring concert. Each year the music and speech departments join forces in the production of the Walnuts, a musical comedy review staged entirely under their direction.

SHOP TEACHES BOYS USEFUL ARTS

Much interesting work goes on in our shop. Although shop work is required only of seventh and eighth grade boys in their industrial arts course, under the guidance of Mr. Peterson, stage scenery, articles for the Red Cross, and props for school affairs such as the prom are produced. Perhaps the most noteworthy project this year was the honor roll of Walnut Hills grads who are in the armed services. This plaque is now placed in the alcove by room 217. In the industrial arts classes the boys made many useful objects, toys for charity, and lovely gifts at Christmas. Below a class of seventh graders are shown at work in the well equipped shop.

Above: Mr. Peterson, instructor of industrial arts and mechanical drawing.

THE BOYS NEAR THE TOP OF THE POLES JUST AS

One of the important activities of the indoor program is the pole climb. Shown above are: T. Greenwald, J. Wiott, H. McCaslin, H. Hoerr, A. Hill, and L. Buer, the extended profile on the end. In addition to being photogenic the boys are really off the ground.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION NEARS ITS DESERVED POSITION HERE

A strong mind is not enough; it must be accompanied by a strong and healthy body. Here at Walnut Hills we believe this earnestly. Physical education is a required subject for three periods of each week. In addition to exercises such as the pole climb on the opposite page, competitive games are taught. "Gym" is a popular subject as far as the student body is concerned. The great majority of students like and participate in the physical education program. They realize that in addition to merely having fun, they are building strong bodies for the future of their country. The girls' program is fully as varied as that of the boys. After school sports and contests carry on the work of this department. Handicapped this year the boys physical education department carried on never the less. Class leaders helped Mr. Varrelman and Mr. Gregg fill the shoes of Lt. Reuss who left in the spring. Although Walnut Hills is a classical high school, it will never be said that the school has developed brains to the exclusion of brawn; physical education has found and taken an important place in our curriculum.

THE CLASSES . . .

Other classes at Walnut Hills have had to face war; and other classes, too, have known the joy of peace. We of '44 will not be here to celebrate and take advantage of the return to peace-time education, but we will be proud to remember that those things which we did as seniors helped to some extent to bring about the day when other seniors can concentrate on studies related to the development of permanent peace rather than of total war. We have taught and we have learned. We know the bloody task of serving victory for the democracies in the immediate future. We know that we must not fail the trust of our boys who have died and who have tossed the torch of liberty to us to hold high and keep forever burning. We will devote the present day to this trust; and when the sun rises on the day of peace, we will give all that is in us to make that day eternal.

So we seniors are beginning again from the bottom. We struggled through the three years of high school in preparation for our year of seniority. Now we have seen that year through and have had a lot of fun in doing so. We enjoyed Baby Day and our second Prom; we marched down the aisle on Class Day and viewed our fellow students from the stage on Honor Day. We had the privileges and pleasures of being seniors. Then one day we found ourselves all dressed up in our long white dresses and our dinner coats and realized that it was all over. We're going to college where we will have to learn to live in a different way, or else we're going to work where the change will be even greater. But regardless of where we go we'll remember Walnut Hills and what it meant to us forever.

Many outstanding pupils who should have graduated with the class of 1944 have taken up an accelerated plan of studies and have left school in September or January to enter college or the armed forces. Although they have missed many of the long awaited experiences of their senior year, they have replaced these with many even more interesting. We wish to give recognition here to these pupils and to those who for some other reason are not pictured on the preceding pages: William Schreiner, Donald Brown, Irma Heilbrun, Kenneth MacDonald, Jean Heinz, Mark Dine, Lloyd Jaffee, Christine Williams, Geneva Smith, Roger Sibbald, Leland Cullen Allen, Cherry Fabe, Jean Grosser, Stephen Low, Patricia Peter, and Walter Wolf.

JUNIORS HAVE JUST ONE MORE YEAR AT WALNUT HILLS

We of the Junior Class are nearly to the top of the ladder. We've spent our past five years successfully building up a class which will be able to take over next year with the customary ease. Already the war, causing many seniors to leave early, has necessitated the assistance of juniors in numerous responsible positions. The fine way in which our class has filled in for the seniors is a good portent for next year. Like all other classes today, we must realize the responsibilities of our times. Our class is determined to make the most of this day of development, to strive for higher goals and higher standards both for ourselves and for our country.

CAPABLE LEADERSHIP MAKES SOPHOMORES A SUCCESS

The Sophomore Class officers wear broad smiles as they stand beside one of the many works of art which beautify our halls. Left to right, they are Joe Graves, vice-president; Mike Mathis, president; Jack Gottschalk, treasurer; Betty Todd, secretary.

SOPHOMORES ANTICIPATE TWO YEARS AS UPPERCLASSMEN

It will be two years before we of the Sophomore Class take our places on the graduation platform. We hope that these two years will find the world again at peace; but until our hopes are realized, we will continue to give our best to the war effort. Next year we will join the ranks of upperclassmen. We realize that we will enjoy new privileges and also will be given new responsibilities. With the experience of the last two years, we feel certain we will prove worthy of them. We have found that many of us are exceptionally talented in the fields open to Walnut Hills students and know that they will help to make the day of the class of '46 a brilliant one.

FRESHMAN OFFICERS DO GOOD JOB IN GUIDING CLASS

The officers of the Freshman Class pose on the steps facing the circle. Clockwise, they are Don Cecil, president; Tom Sheridan, vice-president; Phoebe Hunt, secretary; Joyce Rapp, treasurer.

FRESHMEN ENJOY UPPER SCHOOL PRIVILEGES AT LAST

We of the Freshman Class have now completed one of our years as members of the upper school. In this year we have seen untold opportunities opening to us. We have been received in the Senior Student Council, we have participated in high-school athletic competition, we have shown our talent in the field of dramatics. This year we have opened our official record, the record that will tell the tale of our class upon its graduation day. More will be expected of us next year than this year. We will fulfill that expectation to the best of our ability, so that when high school days are past, our class may boast of the name it left in Walnut Hills.

HERE ARE THE OUTSTANDING MEMBERS OF EIGHTH GRADE

Row 1: G. Prickett, M. Irwin, B. Geist, H. Greston.

Row 2: K. Mitchell, A. Travis, N. Phillips.

Since class officers are a privilege of the upper school, the eighth grade had no one to represent them on the first of the pages of eighth grade home rooms. Therefore, the three girls and four boys who have exhibited the greatest qualities of leadership were chosen for this honor.

HIGH SCHOOL OPENS ITS DOORS TO THE EAGER E-FLATS

The eighth graders have enjoyed being tops in the lower school and are now eager to begin on the bottom rung of the upper school. They have shown their ability to manage their affairs in the junior Student Council and have displayed their talent in all fields open to them. True to Walnut Hills form the eighth graders have shown their patriotic spirit in many drives and sales. Now they have elected class officers and their quota of upper Student Council members for the coming year and are preparing to begin their years as high school students in a blaze of glory.

E-FLAT ROOMS POSE FOR LAST TIME IN LOWER SCHOOL

The eighth graders have been enthusiastic boosters of the school's war effort. They are almost always one hundred percent in their war stamp sales, and in the recent campaign to recruit blood donors for the Red Cross they defeated the eleventh grade in a private contest.

THESE SEVEN PUPILS SHOW PROMISE OF LEADERSHIP

Seven outstanding effies were selected on the basis of scholarship, character, leadership, and participation in school activities. Here they are on the front steps facing the Parkway. Left to right: J. Reynolds, A. Reisner, C. Lipp, E. Wiseman, H. Schadler, R. Maehr, T. Pinel.

THE EFFIES NOW CONSIDER WALNUT HILLS THEIR HOME

To the seventh grade Walnut Hills has been a grand and new experience. They have left elementary school to enter a school of classical learning; and although they have been the lowest of its classes, they have been treated much as the babies in a family. They have received invaluable guidance from their Big Sisters and Big Brothers and have acclimated themselves to the school with alacrity. They have made places for themselves in the governing body and activities of the lower school and are now ready and eager to step up and make way for other effies.

THE ACTIVITIES . . .

Our day as high school students is a day spent not only in acquiring knowledge but also in discovering and cultivating any talents that may be within us. Our music, art, speech, and athletic departments and our publications sponsor innumerable activities that are beyond the field of study, that give no scholastic credits, but that enable the students to have practical experience in fields that may have a direct bearing upon their future. Even in peacetime, they will extend their influence over the future day of each of the alumnae, showing him the way to culture, leadership, and beauty.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT WORKS

Walnut Hills pupils can honestly say that to a great extent they govern themselves. The Student Council composed of members of each grade suggests and carries out plans for the betterment of the school besides introducing and enforcing behavior rules. To the Senior Council, a group of five girls chosen for their ability and leadership, go the tasks of managing Student Aid, Red Cross work, the Big Sisters, the office help, and ushers for school productions.

SENIOR COUNCIL

K. Frazer, R. Richmond, Miss Clarke, P. Ruth, E. J. Wolsey.

Six boys, the Student Court, chosen from the junior and senior classes and working under the guidance of Dr. Senger have as their duty the trial and punishment of boys who are brought before them for infractions of school rules.

The Girls League membership is made up of all the girls of the school. It furnishes an activity in which each girl can participate. The boys of the Traffic Squad are a necessary part of the Walnut Hills system. Through their efforts heavy morning traffic is kept under control.

In order to give the seventh and eighth grades a part in school management the Lower School Student Council was formed. This gives the lower school a real part in the affairs of Walnut Hills.

EACH MONDAY MORNING

The Chatterbox, the Walnut Hills weekly newspaper, is an outlet for the journalistic talent of the pupils. This year due to the acceleration of many of the members of the staff, there was a complete turn over of Chatterbox workers at mid-year. The course of this school year saw three boys take over the duties of Editor-in-Chief, each one of them fulfilling their duties with efficiency and precision. When Bill Foley, who began the year as editor, left at mid-year, he was succeeded by Jim Heekin who left a few weeks later and was in turn succeeded by Morris Fogel. The three other editorships each changed hands also, as did many of the minor positions on the staff. The Chatterbox requires long, hard work of its staff. Circulation and advertising staffs as well as the journalistic staff are necessary to put out the paper each week complete and on time.

As the years of war increase, the difficulties of putting out a newspaper increase in proportion. Shortages and increased prices have been a great strain and have made it difficult to keep up the standards of former years in Chatterbox production. The staff has worked especially hard this year, though, and believes that it has done its duty in producing a paper that any school should be proud to call its own. Papers have been sent to all the graduates of the school who are in the service and still in this country. The thanks of these boys has been well worth the trouble it has taken to send the paper. Putting out a Chatterbox is hard work, but no one who has ever done it would give up the experience.

THE REMEMBRANCER STAFF

CO-EDITORS

Bill Schubert and Rosemary Richmond, shown above, stopped bickering and breathed a concerted sigh of relief when the REMEMBRANCER finally went to press.

This year the REMEMBRANCER staff was again confronted with the many delays and scarcities which last year's staff had to face, but again the year book has been completed against the odds. In our offering this year are pictures which express Walnut Hills High School itself, concrete memories of the past year. There is a record of all our extra-curricular activities and the important events of the year, and in the snapshot section the faces of our friends and the incidents day by day of Life at Walnut Hills are caught.

The REMEMBRANCER is a possession not many of us would like to give up. It represents to the staff a great amount of hard work and a great satisfaction. To the rest of the school, especially to the seniors, it represents something they can never recapture except by turning its pages again. Therefore, in spite of wars and their consequent obstacles, let us hope that the tradition of the REMEMBRANCER and all that it stands for will go on through all the remaining years of Walnut Hills.

STAFF

WORKS HARD TO PUBLISH ANNUAL IN THIRD YEAR OF WAR

STAFF EDITORS

Right: Jim Heckin, Literary Editor, Jim Pierce, Business Manager, and Mary Louise Eck, Art Editor, refer to last year's book for guidance.

Four sub staffs each headed by an editor and a Junior Staff composed the REMEMBRANCER organization this year. When several staff editors, pursuing an accelerated course, left school at midyear, their tasks were taken over by capable juniors who have done outstanding work. The taking and mounting of the excellent pictures of this year's book were handled by the Photography Staff, all sales to raise money, subscriptions, and advertising were the duties of the Business Staff, the copy and headlines were written by the Literary Staff, and the end sheets, cover, and sketches were done by the Art Staff. The Junior Staff helped the Business Staff and received valuable training in putting out an annual.

The co-editors at work. Jene Senger looks happy but Peggy Ruth appears rather puzzled as Dr. Senger looks over her shoulder.

THE GLEAM CARRIES ON

The school literary magazine, The Gleam, has in past years built up a fine tradition with its excellent specimens of student talent. Any pupil may contribute to The Gleam, but only the best pieces of creative writing are selected for publication in the three issues which come out each year. This year the hardworking staff, headed by co-editors Peg Ruth and Jean Senger, sponsored a contest, open to the whole school, in which prizes of one dollar each were awarded for the best essay, short story, and poem entered, with an additional prize of two dollars for the best piece of work of any kind. The cover designs and the illustrations which added so much to each issue were done by outstanding art pupils. Under the able guidance of Dr. Harry L. Senger, the faculty advisor, The Gleam this year has even raised the high standard set in preceding years and has established a mark which its successors will find hard to equal.

WRITING AND DEBATING BROADEN OPINIONS OF PUPILS

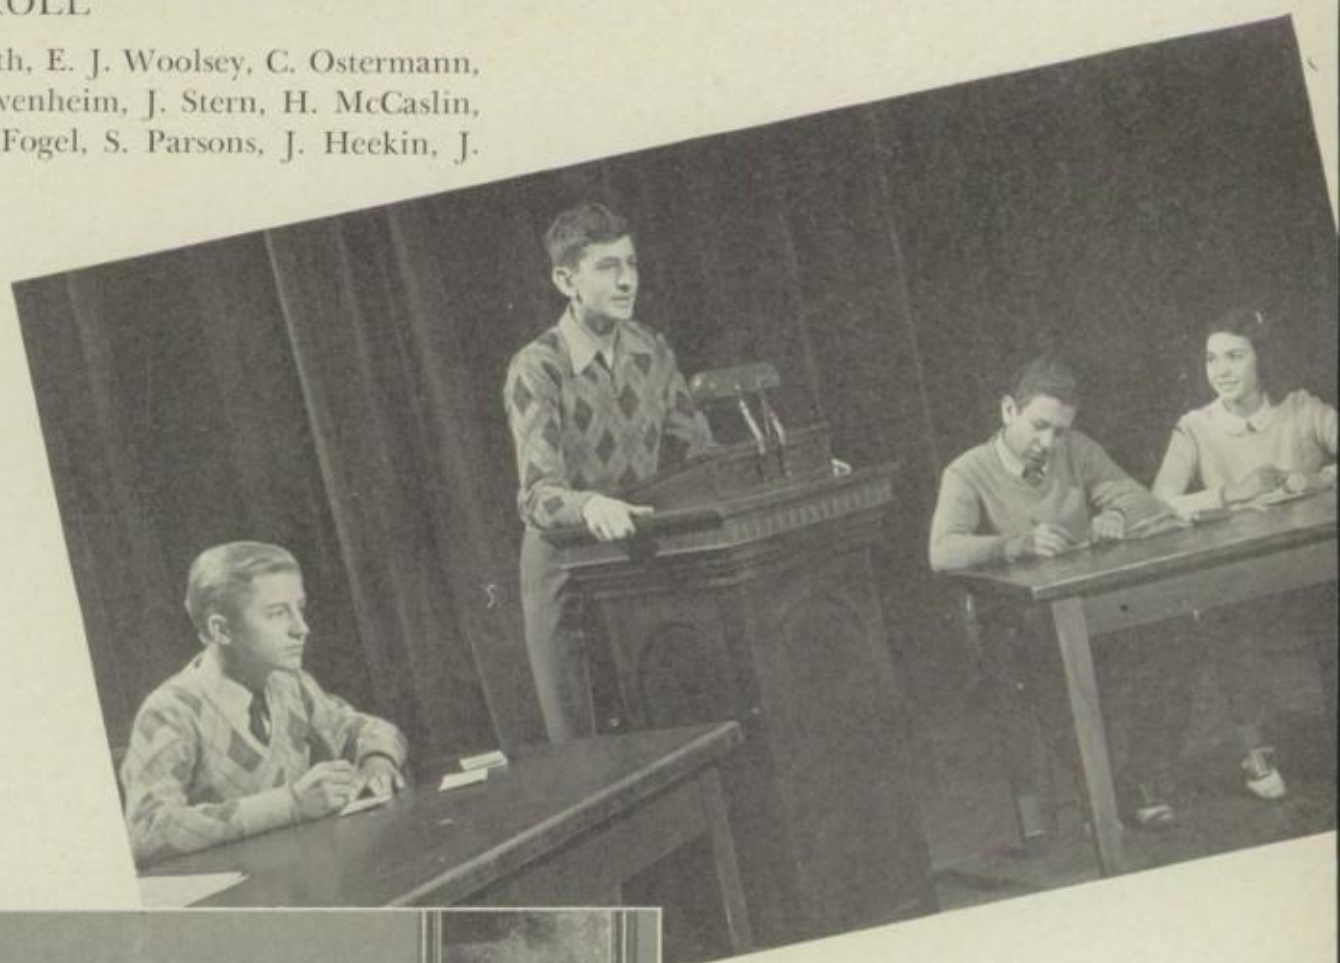

Students who have shown outstanding ability on the business, art, or literary staffs of the school publications are honored by membership in the Quill and Scroll, a national honorary society for high school journalists.

QUILL AND SCROLL

Row 1: R. Richmond, J. Heller, C. Jaffee, P. Ruth, E. J. Woolsey, C. Ostermann, J. Redrow. Row 2: J. Senger, J. Willer, F. Loewenheim, J. Stern, H. McCaslin, P. Burgin. Row 3: P. Boisseau, L. Burgin, M. Fogel, S. Parsons, J. Heekin, J. Pierce, W. Schubert.

The purpose of debating is not to decide any question but to lay bare all points of the issue for and against. The members of the Debate Club learn not only how to present arguments and how to speak clearly and effectively, but also gain valuable knowledge on the important affairs of the day. Through debating, members learn to broaden their views and cultivate tolerance.

OUR SCHOOL ORCHESTRA IS SMALL BUT ACCOMPLISHED

Row 1: D. Denman, T. Schwab, J. Rapp, F. Boksenbom. Row 2: D. Salzer, B. Stone, D. Rabkin, J. Anderson. Row 3: H. Hoerr, B. Roe, K. Burkett, J. Lux. Row 4: E. Schuman, H. Mann, K. Shafer, E. Wuebold.

Each year the orchestra at Walnut Hills performs at an assembly entirely devoted to them. This event always proves to be a bright spot in the school program. This year the symphonic arrangement of "Deep Purple" was received with particular enjoyment by the student audience.

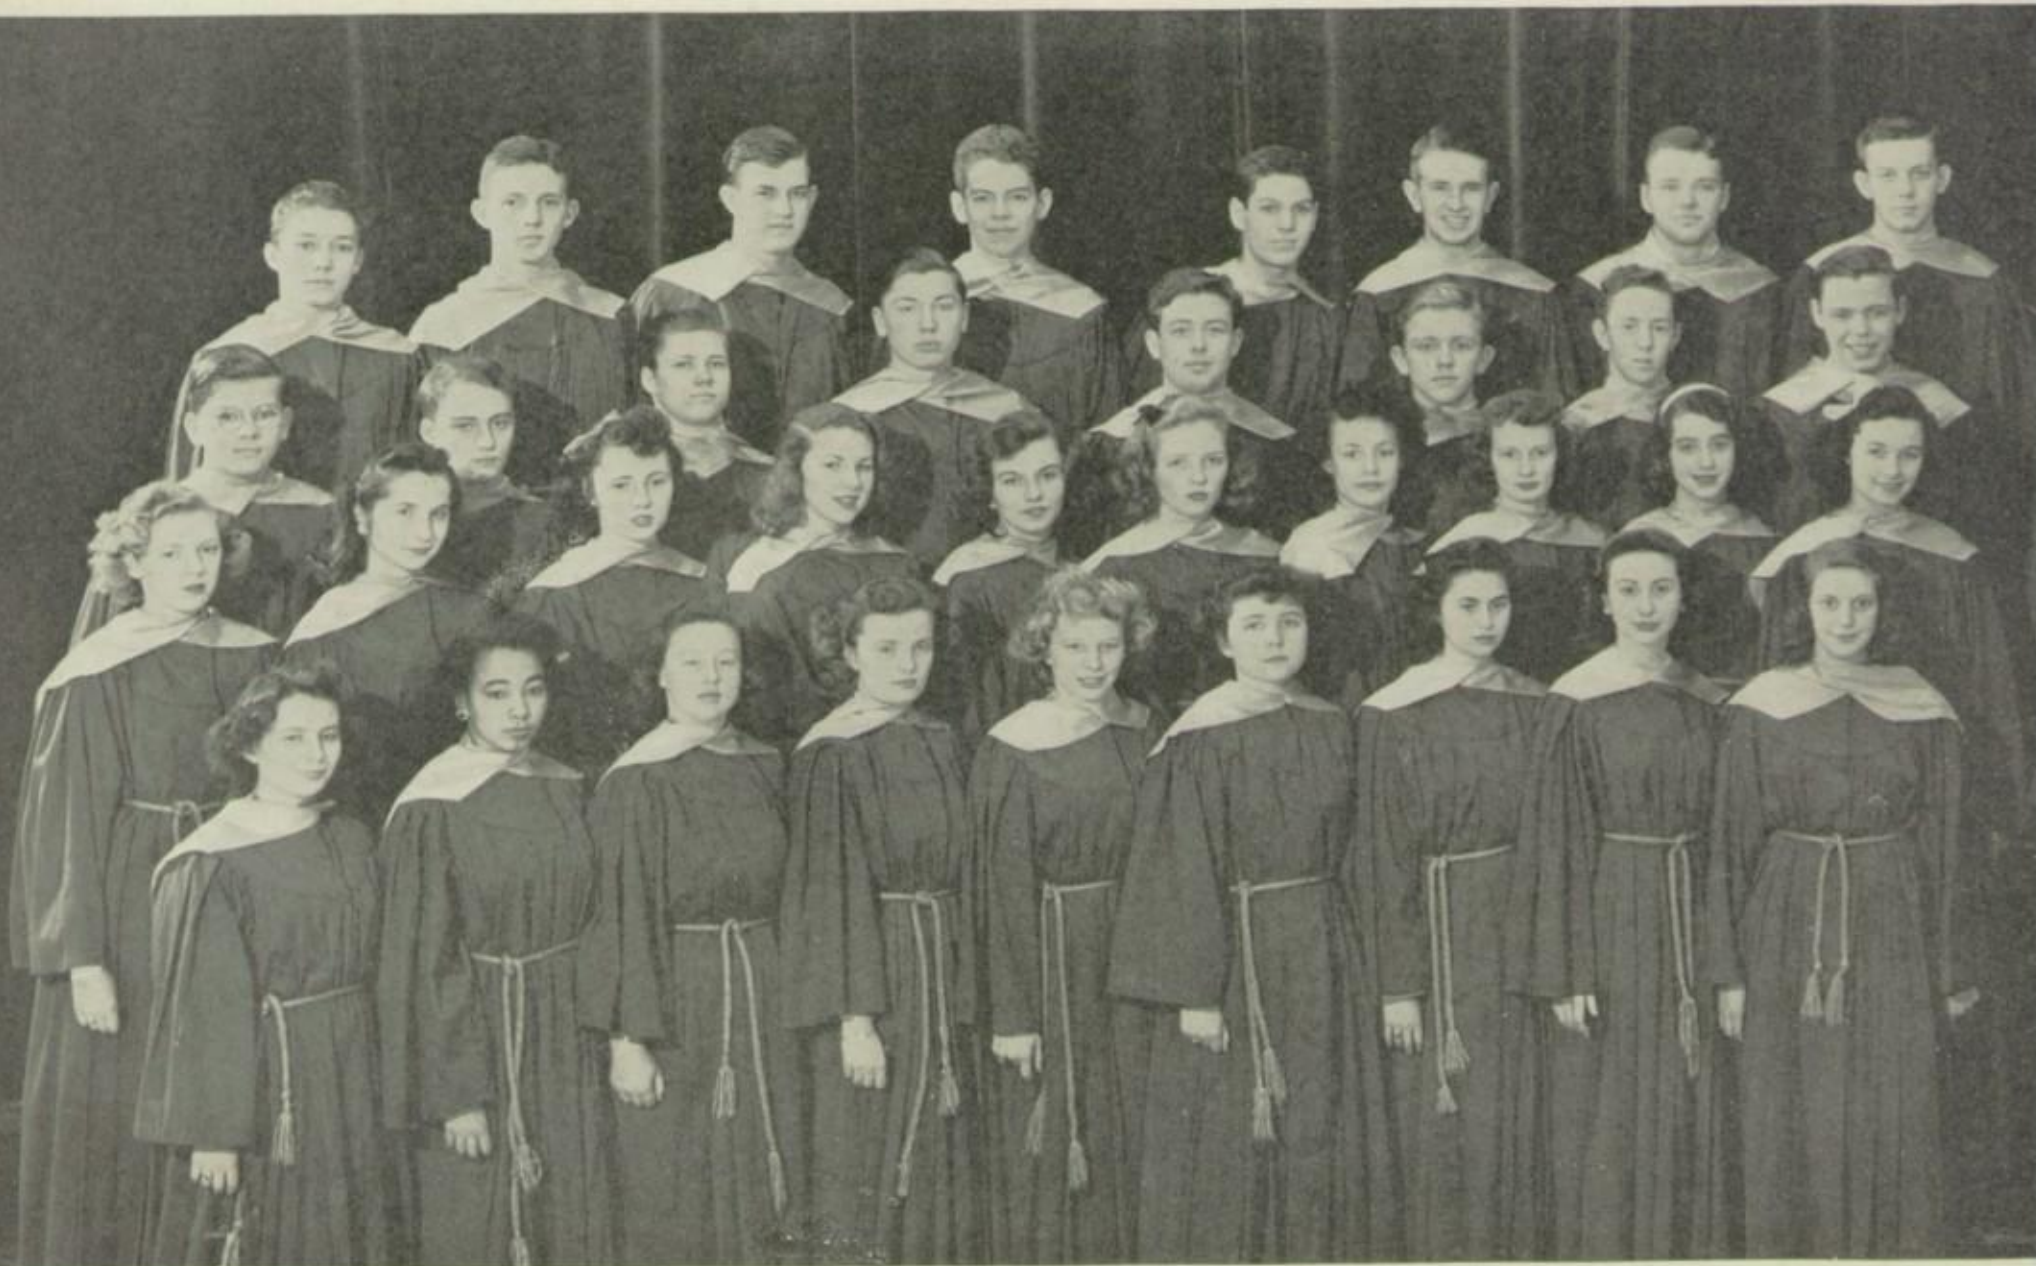

THEY GIVE SMOOTH PERFORMANCES OF DIFFICULT WORKS

Row 1: C. Kinney, D. Spencer, F. Scharold, M. Bollinger, Row 2: J. Schiller, B. Rank, M. Koch, J. Zieger, H. Dietz, M. Mathis. Row 3: R. Cohen, M. Dine, R. Landmeier, A. Rosenberg, A. Hoerr, R. Schuck.

For many weeks before the Review there could be heard the sounds of popular music issuing from the band room after school. The Review was only one of the many occasions upon which the orchestra and its popular director, Mr. Van Pelt received much acclaim. The orchestra will always be an integral part of Walnut Hills.

OUR FINE CHOIR IS THE PRIDE OF THE WHOLE SCHOOL

Row 1: P. Skelton, W. McGoodwin, M. Schnell, E. Ottenjohn, A. M. Wagner, M. McAuley, L. Lazar, M. Wormus, M. L. Metcalf. Row 2: R. Brogdon, B. Stone, H. Motsinger, J. St. John, M. L. Eck, A. Frazier, C. Reece, P. Sherman, J. Levy, N. Stewart. Row 3: J. Wiseman, T. Schwab, F. Scharold, S. Bolan, A. Kuresman, J. Nolte, L. Davis, W. Rogers. Row 4: R. Myers, B. Lorenz, L. Buer, D. Heusinkveld, S. Low, D. Mills, B. Heuck, D. Sheridan.

Under the expert guidance of Mrs. Nell Custer Murphy, the Senior A Capella Choir has been one of the leading groups in our school for many years. Membership in this fine choir is a coveted honor. Entertainment is furnished by them at the many celebrations during the school year, and they are quite in demand for Sunday morning singing in the churches of the city.

THEIR LOVELY MUSIC IS PRODUCED BY HOURS OF WORK

Row 1: C. Martin, S. Gillespie, J. Bergstrom, N. Schlotman, R. Singleton, C. Fogle, E. Knight, E. Hoffman, H. Klayman, N. Kramer. Row 2: P. Longacre, K. Frazer, D. Denman, E. J. Woolsey, B. Erhardt, P. Gescheider, A. M. Dorsch, D. Lockley, A. Long, M. Berman, P. Hampson. Row 3: M. Fogle, T. Wohl, J. Engelhardt, J. Rogers, S. Parsons, T. Sizer, E. Zentgraf, H. Lay, N. Barnett, S. Elfenbaum. Row 4: E. Hoehn, J. Brunsman, N. Newman, C. Duesing, A. Cherry, D. Beckner, J. Emerson, J. Blashill, E. Jones, I. Menachoff.

Much praise should go to those pupils who fill out the ranks of the Senior Choir, for their untiring spirit in rehearsing many hours in school and out. But in their blue and gold robes they present a fine appearance in any setting, and their music as they sing without accompaniment is proof that their work is not in vain.

ENTERTAINMENT FOR EVENTS IN AND OUT OF SCHOOL

Four popular and prominent musical organizations of the school are the Octette, Triple Trio, Girl's Glee Club, and Band. The performance of the Octette is a highlight of the Christmas assembly as well as an entertaining feature at meetings of outside organizations. The "Boys" never fail to draw several laughs as well as numerous rounds of applause from their audiences. The Triple Trio, their sister organization, performs at several programs throughout the year including meetings of the Parent's organization, the Christmas assembly, and the Spring Concert. The Girl's Glee Club, which is open to any girl who likes to sing, is an integral part of the Christmas and Spring Concert programs. Last and certainly not least, the Band forms an enthusiastic part of the school's music both at the football games in the fall and the basketball games in the winter. Most of the members are also members of the orchestra and serve in this organization at the other musical program during the year.

WALNUT HILLS DRAMA

For one night Walnut Hills dramatists converted themselves into Aethenian lovers, dukes and queens, fairies, and rude mechanics in order to present a production of A MID-SUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM which was worthy of Broadway itself. The annual Shakespearean production has been the high point of the dramatic year at Walnut Hills for twenty-two years.

Lysander and Hermia played by Dick Liebelt and Helen Appleton plan their escape from Athens and Hermia's father and dream of their future marriage.

The elfish Puck as portrayed by John Froome describes some of his mischievous pranks to one of Titiana's attendants played by Jeanne Redrow.

Sam Parsons as Demetrius under the influence of a love potion now tells the formerly spurned and unbelieving Helena, Rosemary Eyrich, of his love for her.

Theseus.....	Hubert Miller
Egeus.....	George Riggs
Lysander.....	Richard Liebelt
Demetrius.....	Sam Parsons
Philostrate.....	William Lorenz
Quince.....	Robert Marvin
Bottom.....	Alvin Kuresman
Snug.....	Robert Cone
Flute.....	Stephen Low
Snout.....	William Stuhlbarg
Starveling.....	Tom Greenwald
Hippolyta.....	Jene Senger
Hermia.....	Helen Appleton
Helena.....	Rosemary Eyrich
Oberon.....	Pat Boisseau
Titania.....	Alice Bennett
Puck.....	John Froome
First Fairy.....	Jeanne Redrow

CARRIES ON TRADITION

Other members of the cast not shown in the picture above are Theseus, Duke of Athens, Hubert Miller; Egeus, father of Hermia, George Riggs; Philostrate, a master of revel, William Lorenz; Hippolyta, Queen of the Amazons, betrothed to Theseus, Jeanne Senger. An orchestra composed of Cincinnati Symphony players furnished the background, Mendelsohn's beautiful setting for "A MID-SUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM."

Alice Bennett as Titiana, because of the love charm which Oberon has placed on her, believes herself enamoured of Bottom, Alvin Kuresman, who has been turned into an ass by Puck.

Alvin Kuresman as Bottom tells a tale to his friends and associates in the production of "Pyramus and Thisbe", the play within the play.

Pat Boisseau and Alice Bennett as Oberon and Titania, the king and queen of the fairies dance happily with a few of their attendants after they have been reconciled.

MUSICAL REVIEW, "WALNUTS OF 44," IS HUGE SUCCESS

above: The girls and boys dancing choruses, Jack Jones, Syllis Buck, and the orchestra perform the "Surrey with the Ring on Top", one of the best numbers in the Review.

SUCCESSFUL PERFORMANCE IS DUE TO THE SKILL, HARD

The Review this year was a success both financially and entertainingly. The chorus performed in a precision-like manner the following numbers: Dipsy Doodle, Mississippi Dream Boat, Surrey With The Fringe On Top, and Baby Please Stop. A continuity was again effectively used this year while the dramatic end of the program was well handled by a cast trained by Miss Lotze.

Above: Merle Marcus, B. Stuhlbarg, C. Ostermann, G. Riggs, T. Greenwald, A. Kuresman, D. Liebelt, J. Redrow, J. Cullen, P. Boisseau, P. Buck.

Irv Behrendt and Stan Fischer, the comic element of the show.

WORK AND DETERMINATION OF CAST, TEACHERS AND PUPILS

The Boy's and Girl's singing chorus both performed with credit to Miss Murphy. Solos were given by several of Mr. Van Pelt's proteges, who gave splendid performances. Credit for the fine performance is also due Mr. Earl Snapp, the orchestra director, the ticket and business staff under Miss Becker, and the various teachers and pupils who rendered the small services necessary to the show.

The tap dancers combine to form a pretty picture: J. Scharnhorst, H. Turner, G. Cohen, P. Buck.

The instrumental soloists: B. Cohan, E. Wuebold, L. Shifres, N. Newman.

PAINTERS ENJOY WORK

A finished production depends so much upon the authenticity of the scenery. The scene painters see to it that the backgrounds of plays and reviews are realistic. They do wonders with old scenery and show their ability in constructing new scenery. In the picture to the left Roy White, Milton Levine, Frank Dudenhoffer, Arthur Adler, and Charles Edelson admire their work.

STAGE CREW HAS DIFFICULT JOB

To the stage crew goes the thanks of the casts of every production on the stage of Walnut Hills. They spend hours in erecting scenery, planning lighting effects, gathering unheard of props, and listening to the complaints of directors and actors. Before any performance the stage crew is the last to complete their work, and after performances its work is not finished as is the work of the cast. Their untiring effort makes our finished performances possible; and although they are seldom recognized, they are appreciated.

WE HEAR NEWS OF OUR DAY

The Radio Guild benefits not only its own members but all the pupils of the school. Each Monday, Wednesday, and Friday a resumé of the latest news is broadcast to the school. The broadcasts are brief, concise, but very informative. The picture on the right shows Charlotte Jaffee, a script writer, Helen Appleton, the announcer, and Pat Boisseau, president of the Guild, as they are just about to go on the air with their morning broadcast.

GUILD ADVERTISES COMING EVENTS

The functions of the Radio Guild are by no means limited to news announcements. The Guild is the advertising agency of the school. The Prom, dramatic productions, and sales sponsored by various organizations are promoted and advertised to the school in clever and unique radio skits. The Guild offers to its members experience and training which often proves valuable to them in their later careers.

The Arts and Crafts Club is one of the more successful organizations of the school. Under the capable direction of Miss Carmichael members of the club have taken many prizes in competitions such as the annual Scholastic Exhibition and the Symphony contest. The members of the club do beautiful work in ceramics, leathercraft, and other skills, and make many lovely and useful articles. Each year they put their work on display at an exhibition in school. Parents, pupils, and teachers attend this exhibit which is the high-point of the club's activities.

The Big Brothers organization is one of the newest in the school, for this year was the first in which they functioned actively. A group of outstanding older boys, each of whom was assigned several seventh grade boys as little brothers, was chosen by Mr. Dauterich, the faculty advisor, and his council. It then became the duties of these Big Brothers to guide the younger ones through the intricacies of their new school.

NEW SCHOOL BY FRIENDLY BIG BROTHERS AND SISTERS

The Big Sisters carry on a long established and gracious tradition. The incoming seventh grade girls are welcomed by letter before school opens by their big sisters. Soon after the school years begins, they actually meet their new protectors at the annual and festive welcome party for all new girls. From that day on, the little sister is advised, guided, and tutored if necessary by her big sister who takes a real interest in the welfare of her charges.

XEM CLUB PROVIDES OUTLET FOR SCIENTIFIC INTEREST

The Chemistry Club, or X. E. M., this year initiated a change from the program policy of the past. Instead of the usual demonstrations at the bi-weekly meetings a committee planned a long range program schedule for the entire year. This committee then appointed sub-committees from the club membership to be responsible for each meeting. These sub-committees worked out the program for each meeting and in general did a very good job of it. Programs presented included a lecture by Dr. Boyd and demonstrations of the uses of many chemicals. Contrary to popular opinion caused by the numerous detonations of the nitrogen tri-iodide meeting, the members receive much practical knowledge from this organization.

The Botany Club is one of older departmental clubs of the school. Its faculty advisor is Miss Heis, the instructor of botany; and any botany student or former student is eligible for membership. At the meetings of the club demonstrations are given, field trips planned, and work in the school greenhouse carried on. Their most famous activity, however, is their annual flower show open to all botany students in which prizes are awarded to the exhibitors of the most artistic flower arrangements.

This year the Current History Club has been one of our most important and largest clubs. The programs for the meetings have consisted mainly of discussions of current topics given by the students who discuss each side of the question. At the end of the debate a vote is taken to obtain the students' reaction. Speakers were present at several meetings, one of the most interesting being Mr. Tandy of the British Consulate. An important project undertaken by the club this year was the erection of two war maps in the main hall.

The greatest distinction, the highest goal to which every energetic Walnut Hills student aspires is membership in the Cum Laude Society. Eligibility is based entirely upon scholastic standing at the end of a student's high school career. The requirement for membership at the end of three and one half years is slightly higher than at the end of all four years, but equal honor and equal praise is due all those who are accepted into the Society.

Each member receives a beautiful key which is to a high school student what a Phi Beta Kappa key is to a college student. A banquet is given in June to honor all the members of the Society and their parents. Cum Laude is a national society and merits high recognition throughout the country. After its members have reached college, they invariably become a credit to Cum Laude and to Walnut Hills.

Those elected at mid-year too late to have their pictures in the annual are: J. Bunting, L. Burgin, P. Burgin, R. Butler, G. Cohen, M. Dine, J. Easley, C. Edelson, K. Engel, M. Fogel, A. Goldfarb, T. WHHS GERMAN CLUB

Although our country is at war with Germany, the members of the German Club still finds pleasure in learning of the pursuits and activities of Germany as it used to be. Students are given practice in actually speaking the language as most of each meeting is conducted in German. During the Christmas season each year, the club gives an entertainment consisting of several short plays and German Christmas carols. At right is a scene from one of these plays. In costume are Hilda Hallo, Adelaide Fettig, and Mary Ellen Holmes. Under the tutelage of Miss Stratameyer the German Club continues to hold aloft the banner of tolerance.

Supplementing our extensive Spanish department, the Spanish Club has been organized for all Spanish students who care to receive added practice in speaking the language and to study the countries in which it is spoken. Among their numerous activities are a picnic and several motion pictures.

Another organization which provides experience beyond that received in the class room is Le Cercle Francais. This club which meets in the home of its faculty advisor, Mrs. Ashbrook, enjoys the double advantage of speaking the language and eating Mrs. Ashbrook's fine French cooking.

JAMES TULL

Allegro

The musical score is written for voice and piano. It features a key signature of one flat (B-flat) and a 4/4 time signature. The tempo is marked 'Allegro'. The score consists of six systems, each with a vocal line and a piano accompaniment. The lyrics are: 'Semper fi-de - lis, Sem-per fi-de - lis For-ev-er loy-al to Walnut Hills High. — How its glo - ry thrills with love our hearts it fills, Wal - nut Hills High. Sem-per fi - de - lis for - ev - er, Tho' far we roam we'll love thee true, Sem-per fi - de - lis for - ev - er, Oh, Wal-nut Hills High to you! Semperfi- you!' The piano accompaniment is a continuous, rhythmic pattern of chords and single notes, providing a steady accompaniment for the vocal line. The vocal line is written in a single staff, and the piano accompaniment is written in two staves (treble and bass clef). The score ends with a double bar line and repeat signs.

Semper fi-de - lis, Sem-per fi-de - lis For-ev-er loy-al to Walnut Hills High. — How its glo - ry thrills with love our hearts it fills, Wal - nut Hills High. Sem-per fi -

THE ATHLETICS . . .

Out of this war has come one of the greatest tributes to sports ever made. This tribute by General Douglas McArthur, hero of Bataan, shows the importance and necessity of high school sports. His thought is quoted below.

"On the fields of friendly strife are sown the seeds that in other fields will bear the fruits of victory."

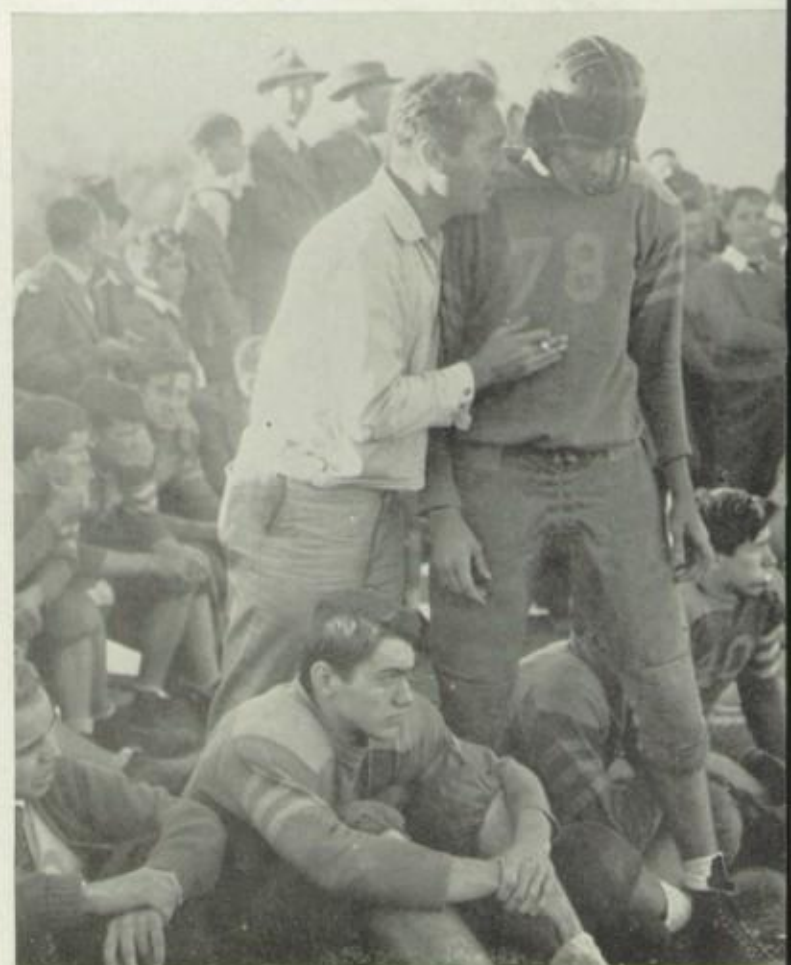

—Gen. Douglas McArthur.

Here at Walnut Hills in our athletic program we are carrying out the idea expressed in this quotation. We only ask that this day may be given to us so that while combating against friendly enemies we will make ourselves strong and thus hasten the day of victory.

VARSITY FOOTBALL TEAM POSES FOR FORMAL PORTRAIT

In its first season of Class A football in many years. Walnut Hills posted a fair record. In league play the best the Blue and Gold could do was to capture two wins while losing to Western Hills, Withrow, and Hughes. On the season the Eagle's record was six wins and three defeats. By far the most successful part of the season was the first half, which saw Walnut Hills thoroughly trample its first four opponents, Wyoming, Lockland, Woodward, and North College Hill. At this time we were being heralded as the team to beat; and the fame of the "touchdown twins," Beyersdorfer and Barnett, had grown wildly. However we then came up against the "big three" and the results were quite different. The Eagle squad was so injury-riddled by the time of the Withrow game that Coach Reuss was forced to change the starting lineup completely. On the following pages the results of the season are analyzed in black and white.

Above: Coach Reuss gives Bob Fast a few last minute instructions before sending him into the game apparently at a time of stress. A few months after the season was over Reuss left for the Navy as a Lt. (j. g.). Credit should be given to Buzz Heuck, who in addition to loyally giving his time to coach the Reserve team in the absence of a regular coach, played effectively for a few closing seconds of the Withrow game.

AFTER SUCCESSFUL SEASON AGAINST TOUGH COMPETITION

WALNUT HILLS 28 — WYOMING 6: Picking up where they left off last fall, the Eagles teed off against the Wyoming Cowboys with a powerful running attack lead by Capt. Jack Beyersdorfer. Wyoming was never in the ball game as WHHS completely outplayed the Cowboy eleven offensively and defensively.

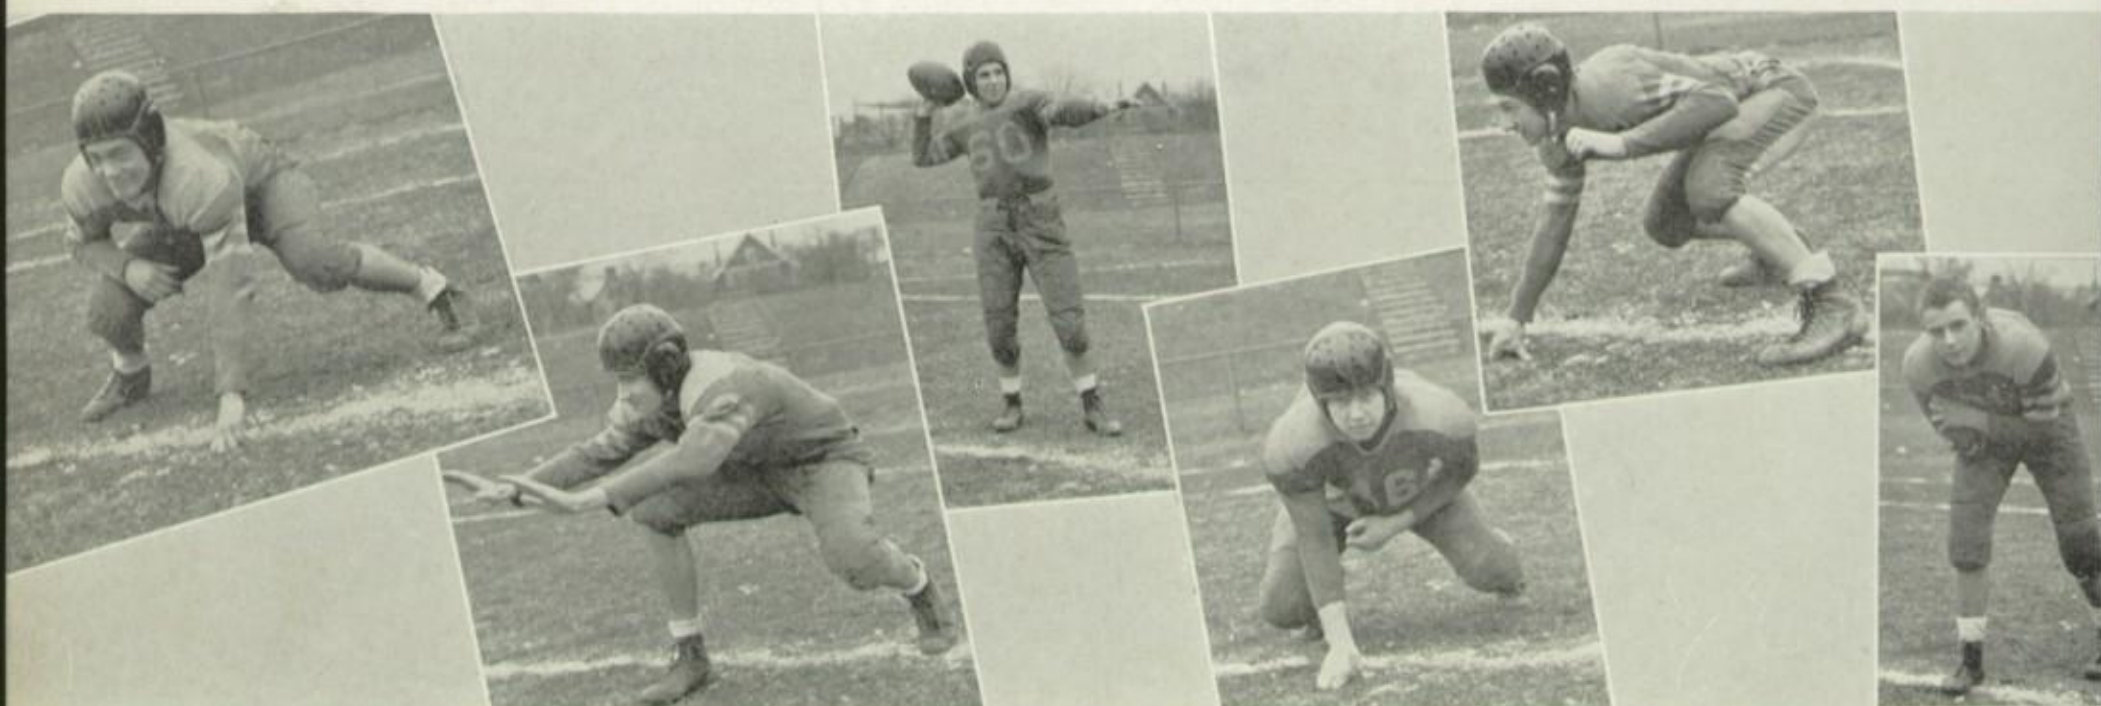

WALNUT HILLS 33 — LOCKLAND 0: In this game the Blue and Gold gained complete revenge for the setback handed them last year by the Panthers. Continuing their powerful offensive running attack, they had little or no trouble in subduing the boys from the Valley. Barnett and Beyersdorfer again were outstanding on the offense while Jim Pierce played a slashing game on the line.

WALNUT HILLS 20 — WOODWARD 0: The once mighty Woodward Bulldogs were the third victims of the Eagles as their eleven were too light and inexperienced to stop the versatile WHHS backfield. Fullback Jay Sikes showed the Bulldogs some brutal blocking as Barnett carried the mail.

WALNUT HILLS 20 — NORTH COLLEGE HILL 7: The Trojans, a light but hard-fighting eleven, refused to admit defeat as they led the Eagles at half time and outgained and outplayed them throughout the contest. The Eagles earned their tenth consecutive victory the hard way as Beyersdorfer did all the scoring.

WALNUT HILLS 0 — WESTERN HILLS 12: Our first defeat but nevertheless a good game.

WALNUT HILLS 0 — WITHROW 50: The less said about this the better.

WALNUT HILLS 0 — HUGHES 26: Another tragedy, but cheers for Dick Whitney!

WALNUT HILLS 14 — HARTWELL 0: The next week WHHS got back in the win column against Hartwell with Charlie Cartwright and Nick Halmi as the big guns. Cartwright tackled Wrede, Hartwell ace, behind the goal and caught a touchdown pass; and Halmi dashed forty yards for the other score.

WALNUT HILLS 25 — CENTRAL VOCATIONAL 0: Central Vocational was the last victim to fall before the somewhat shattered Eagle squad. Beyersdorfer pitched two touchdown passes to ends, Cartwright and Fast, while Sikes, next year's Captain, made the other two tallies on line plunges. Twelve seniors played their last game, and everybody saw some action in this contest.

The Walnut Hills basketball season can best be described as being hot and cold. When the final totals had been tabulated the Eagles had won seven games and dropped eight, quite an improvement over last year's record of 6-11. Although the Blue and Gold, in the season as a whole, made only a fair showing, their results in league competition were fine indeed. Hughes was the lone quintette that Walnut Hills was unable to defeat as they trounced the other teams at least once for a 6-4 league record. However, in competition with outside squads, we captured only one in five contests. Starting off the season with only three returning lettermen, Coach Varrelmann, coaching the hoop game again for the first time in five years, built his nucleus about Nate Barnett, Jack Beyersdorfer, and Fred Weiss. Beyersdorfer led the team in scoring with 146 tallies, followed closely by the other two members of the trio. The Eagles were hurt no little by Weiss's absence in the last four games. Up to that time he was high scorer of the team. "Luther" Whitney came on quickly toward the last part of the season and proved himself to be an excellent defensive player. His best effort was the second Hughes gam in which h was the high Eagle scorer. Bill Schneebeck, sophomore star, thrilled the fans many times with spectacular shots from mid-floor. Bud Sproull was one of the most aggressive men on the squad. Hal Mallory, another letterman, displayed great ability under the basket. The best game played by the Eagles was their 48-38 defeat of Western Hills. No matter how much the second place Maroons tried, they could not stop the Varrelmen that day as they passed and shot like champions.

Beyersdorfer of Walnut Hills and Kender of Withrow go up after a high one in a crucial last second bid for a decisive point. Although this game was a loss as far as the scoreboard showed, the team gained valuable experience and came back later in the year to defeat the Tigers in one of their best-played games.

The Senior Swimmers continued Walnut Hills fine natatorial record as they won their second straight crown from the highly touted Maroon squad 142-140. The race between Walnut Hills and Western Hills was very close and thrilling all the way, but in the last meet the brilliant swimming of Roy Stickney and John Thoman overcame a three point deficit to win the meet by five tallies.

The Walnut Hills Junior Mermen won the championship of the Public High School League for the seventh consecutive year under the expert guidance of Coach D. D. Gregg. The Eaglets found the going easy in their division as they led their nearest opponent, Western Hills, by 37 points. Going into the last meet the Maroons were trailing by only seven points but Walnut Hills showed its championship form to score 49 tallies to 30 for West Hi and thereby win the meet.

MR. STEWART TAKES OVER COACHLESS BASEBALL TEAM

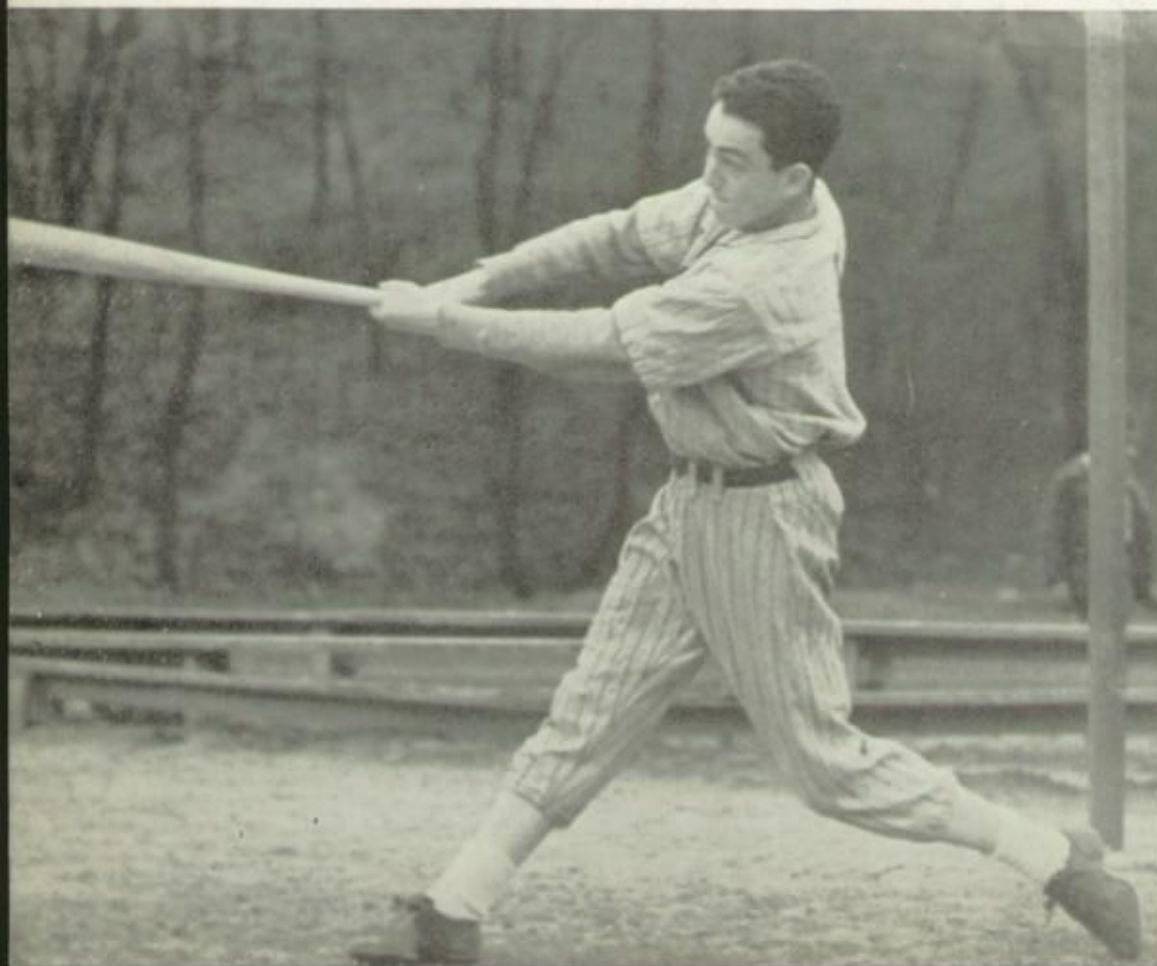

As we go to press the 1944 edition of the Walnut Hills baseball nine has compiled a record of three losses and one win. Considering that our team was without a coach and that only four boys from last year's squad came out this season, this showing is a fair one indeed.

The Eagles dropped the season's opener to the Western Hills Maroons by the score of 7-0. The Price Hill team made only six hits, but due to the poor fielding of Walnut Hills they were able to come through to victory. After losing to Hughes 4-3, we won our first game by defeating the Central Vocational Pilots 8-7. Withrow handed us our third defeat, but the team was looking forward to bettering their position in the double bill with Woodward.

The Eagle trackmen this year made a fairly good record in their city-wide competition. The Junior team especially showed much promise for next year. Zentgraf, by far the best pole-vaulter on the squad, however will probably leave next year. Nevertheless, Mr. Varrelmann did very well with a lack of time and Senior team material. At press time the standing of the Eagles could not be determined fully; however in their first meets the team seemed to show promise for the season to come. Special mention is due Mehorney, the relay team, and Beyersdorfer. The Cross Country team finished their season in the fall with a fair record. Several of the harriers finished in the front ranks of the city meet.

MINOR SPORTS TURN IN CREDITABLE SHOWING THIS YEAR

This season was featured by a series of bad breaks for the Eagles minor teams. The Golf team lost out in the city meet because of a poor score from one of the new players. The good work of Captain Jay Sikes failed to pull up the team score enough for victory. The Bowling Club bowled mostly for fun and recreation. During the season they competed with several teams from the other high schools of the city. The Eagle masters of the racket took second place in the city. Barely nosed out in a play-off match with Western Hills, the boys nevertheless had a great deal of good exercise and fun from their participation on the team.

WALNUT HILLS AT WAR . . .

War is being waged at Walnut Hills as well as on any battlefield. The honor roll of Walnut Hills graduates in the service serves as an inspiration to every student to make each of his hours count in building for victory. Each day finds some patriotic service being carried on in our school. War Stamp sales, magazine collections, scrap and paper drives, knitting and sewing, helping in hospitals and service centers, and all those other tasks necessary for victory are carried on by Walnut Hills pupils.

At right members of the CAP line up for inspection: R. Crisci, S. Dorset, W. Rogers, D. Beckner, D. Haber, J. Neihaus, D. Liebelt, R. Kaufman.

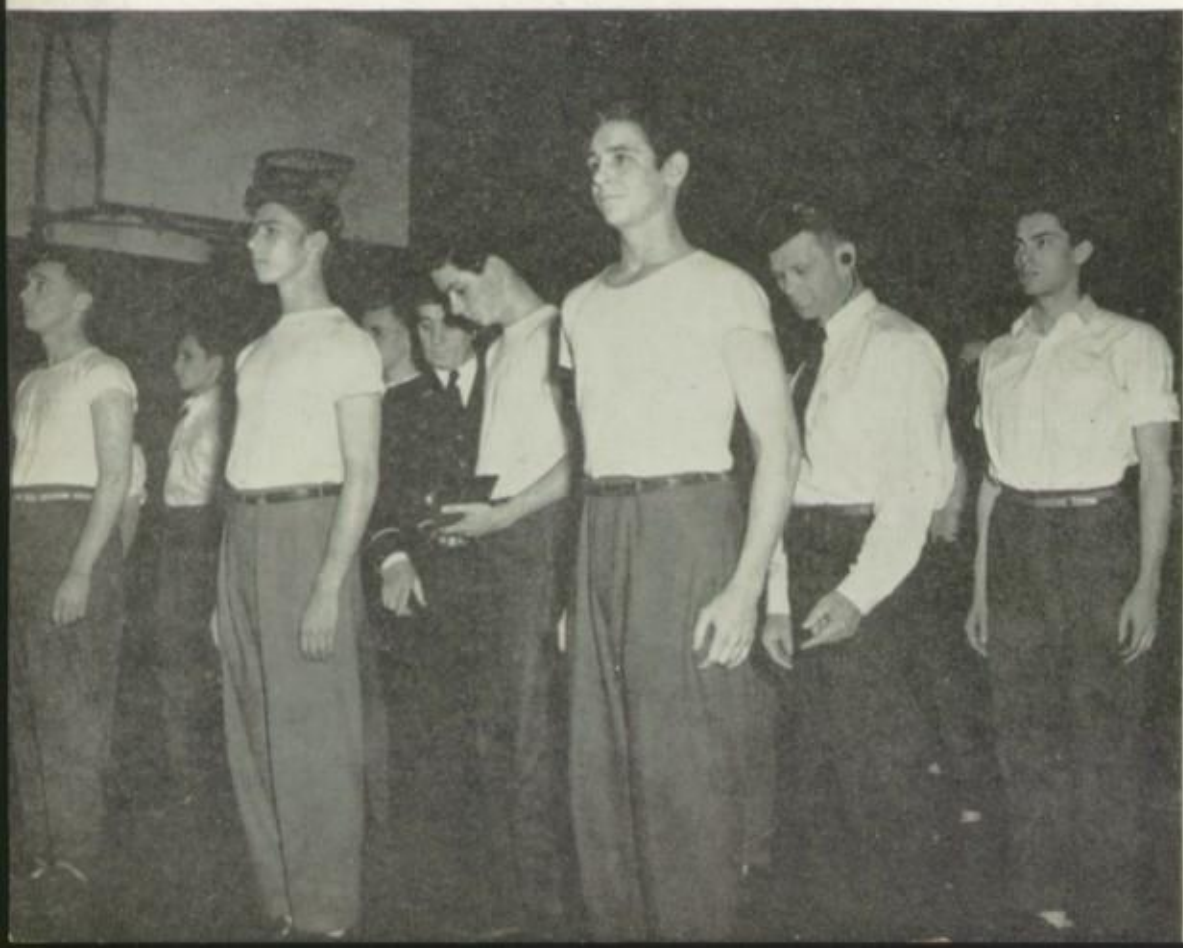

OLDER BOYS SPEND MONDAY NIGHTS IN INTENSIVE DRILL

Above: First sergeant Stan Pleatman prepares to give a command after the company has "fallen in."

Below: Mr. Sommerladd, Sergeant Pleatman, and Mr. Wenzel inspect the company. Notice the posture of Boots Deusing and Bill Cecil.

"Hep, two, three, four . . . " Hearing these commands echoing across the athletic field on a Monday night meant that the American Legion pre-induction class was at work drilling under its competent instructors, Mr. Sommerladd, Mr. Wenzel, and Mr. Loewenstein. Classes were held for two hours every Monday night in two ten week periods. The first semester given in the gym consisted of a course in the basic fundamentals of conduct. During this period non-commissioned officers were chosen from the ranks. Later in the year a second and more advanced course in military discipline and courtesy was given. In addition to the certificate presented at the end of the year, each boy gained for himself a share of the invaluable knowledge which makes a good soldier.

WALNUT HILLS SETS PROUD RECORD IN WAR STAMP SALES

Miss Purington smilingly sells J. Parker Hall his weekly quota of stamps as the other boys of senior home room 312 wait in line.

The weekly war stamp sale which takes place on Tuesday in each home room is perhaps the most important, single war activity in which Walnut Hills students participate. They buy cheerfully each week, for they realize fully how vital to victory are every dime and quarter they can possibly spare. Walnut Hills has far outdistanced the other schools of the city both in the amount of stamps purchased and in the percentage of the school participating. The whole school is indeed proud that the minuteman flag has never once been missing from our flag pole on Wednesday morning since it was first offered to signify ninety per cent participation in backing up our fighting men.

WE MAKE SCRAP BOOKS

At the beginning of this year a committee to take charge of scrap books was organized. Soon Walnut Hills was sending many colorful books to convalescent soldiers. At left are: G. Cullen, J. Heller, J. Ward, J. Mueller.

KNIT, COLLECT MAGAZINES

In the browsing room, the official Red Cross headquarters at Walnut Hills there can always be seen girls working on various articles such as afghans and lap robes that are sent to prisoners of war. These articles are made of knitted squares joined together. All the girls at Walnut Hills derive real pleasure from this work. At right are: J. Carleton, C. Dragel, and J. Patton.

FOR THE RED CROSS

Every Friday morning Walnut Hills pupils come to school burdened down with magazines bound for the U.S.O. headquarters. This is our own special project in which we take a great deal of pleasure. At the left are a group of Walnut Hills pupils helping the Red Cross driver load magazines in a truck.

SCHOOL CONDUCTS DRIVES

Beside the drives for war stamp purchases that are present in every school, Walnut Hills has instituted drives for many other things all connected with the war effort. A drive for athletic equipment was held by the Senior Hi-Y. The fruit of the drive was sent to war prisoners. A drive for blood donors was sponsored by the Student Council in the form of a contest between the classes. Hi-Y pencil drives, record drives, clothes hanger drives, and the weekly magazine drive are all whole-heartedly supported by the student body. At the right Paul Pappenheimer and Frank Andress look over athletic equipment.

Two lower classmen demonstrate that they have the right spirit in our school drives.

TO MEET VARIOUS WAR NEEDS

Many times this year our school had a record of 100% on the War Stamp sale. Many were the times when the enthusiasm of the pupils brought results beyond all expectation.

At the left Peggy Ruth smiles happily as she publicizes the blood donor drive.

Below Peggy Byerer displays the two hundred hangers that she was able to collect.

WALNUT HILLS PUPILS ENTERTAIN SERVICE MEN AT USO

Through Miss Lotze's efforts, Walnut Hills has been sending a steady stream of entertainment to the USO centers all this year. The music department has aided her by furnishing specialty acts and choruses. These various acts make up performances which are well received by the service men. Pictured at right Joan Scharnhorst, talented tap dancer, poses at the Doughnut Center.

Many of the Walnut Hills girls have received the honor of being selected as Junior Hostess in the USO centers in the city. They are much in demand at the Sunday afternoon tea dances and have much the same duties as Senior Hostesses. They help service men to enjoy themselves by finding stationery, candy, cigarettes, and reading material for them and are always ready to trip the light fantastic or cut a rug. These girls are performing a real and necessary service for their country. At the left is Alice Bennett dancing at the USO with a private who seems to be enjoying himself.

HOSPITAL VOLUNTEERS PERFORM VALUABLE WAR SERVICE

Many Walnut Hills girls saw the necessity for inexperienced help in hospitals when the war broke out and answered the call for volunteer nurses aids and dieticians aids immediately. Since then many of them have been spending their hours after school and on week-ends making beds, giving baths, carrying trays, taking care of new born babies, and in general assisting the nurses in their duties. These girls have learned to accept responsibilities that would ordinarily not be entrusted to high school students. In many cases they have proved more capable than older women. In the picture above Dukie Theiss and Margie Kessler are seen tending babies in the maternity ward of the Deaconess Hospital.

THE SNAPSHOTS . . .

Revue rehearsals, doughnut sales, people you know and like: all these and many more are things which students remember and cherish. Things, people, and events which in themselves are trivial add up to form our memory of what school was like. Therefore we present the snapshots with the hope that they will not only please you but in the future serve to call to mind familiar scenes when Walnut Hills is only a memory.

OUR FLAG

"I swing before your eyes as a bright gleam of color, a symbol of yourself, the pictured suggestion of that big thing which makes this nation. My stars and my stripes are your dream and your labors. They are bright with cheer, brilliant with courage, firm with faith, because you have made them so out of your hearts. For you are the makers of the flag and it is well that you glory in the making."

THANK YOU

The editors of the 1944 REMEMBRANCER wish to thank the following people who have helped us immeasurably in putting out this year's annual:

Mr. Arthur Cordes of the Westerman Print Co. who in addition to patiently suffering through our many delays helped and pushed us to a successful end. The excellent typography and careful printing are the result of the painstaking labors of The Westerman Print Co. and its representatives.

Mr. Russell Benson of the Indianapolis Engraving Co. upon whom fell the brunt of our unjust complaints and moans. Truly a wonderful advisor Mr. Benson has become a fast friend.

The fine photography of the book is the result of the hard work of Mr. Al O'Hagen of Osborne and O'Hagen. He spent several days at the school searching for new poses and camera angles. The candid, snapshots, and the complete School Life section were done by Dave Heusinkveld and Sally Cahill.

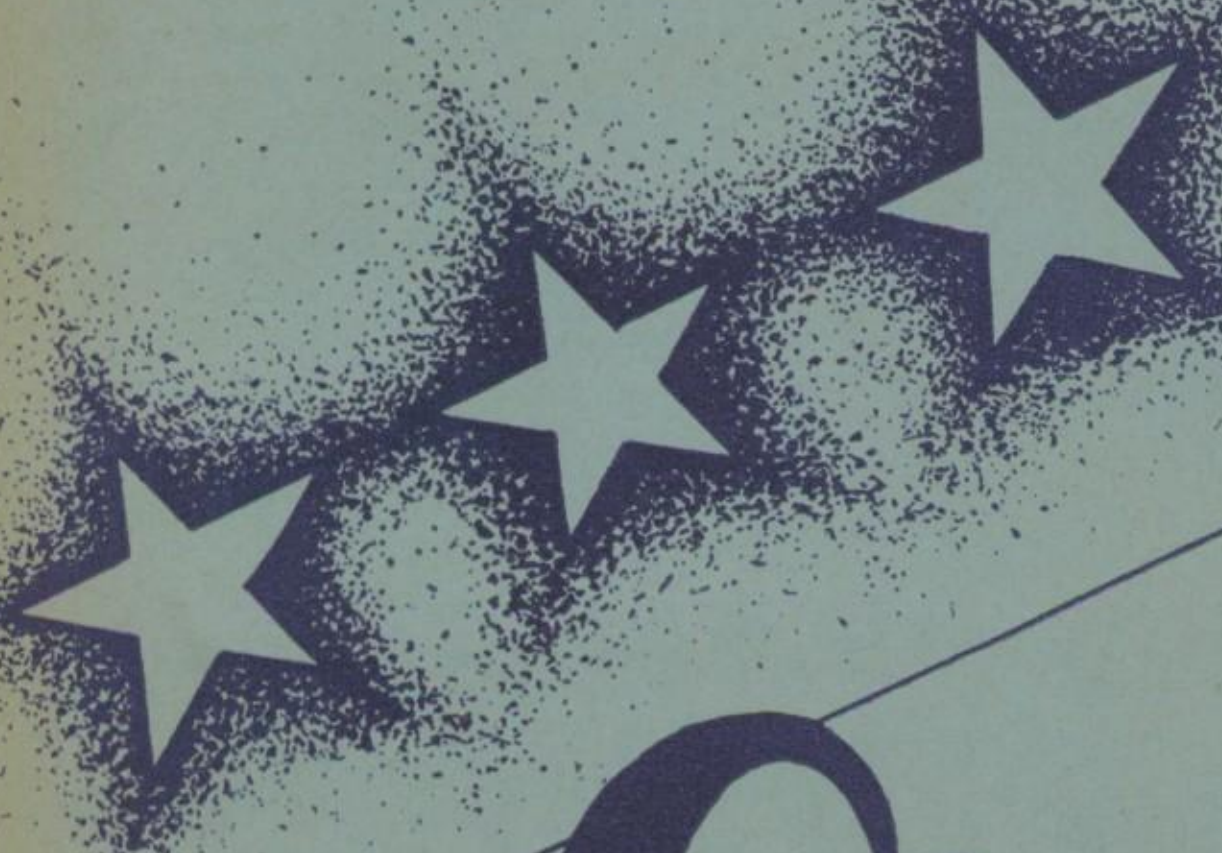

Mr. P. A. Nelson of the Kingsport Press, Inc., whose understanding guidance resulted in the new style cover which adorns the book.

The homeroom representatives who worked patiently and accurately to sell and collect subscriptions. Without their help the book could not have been published.

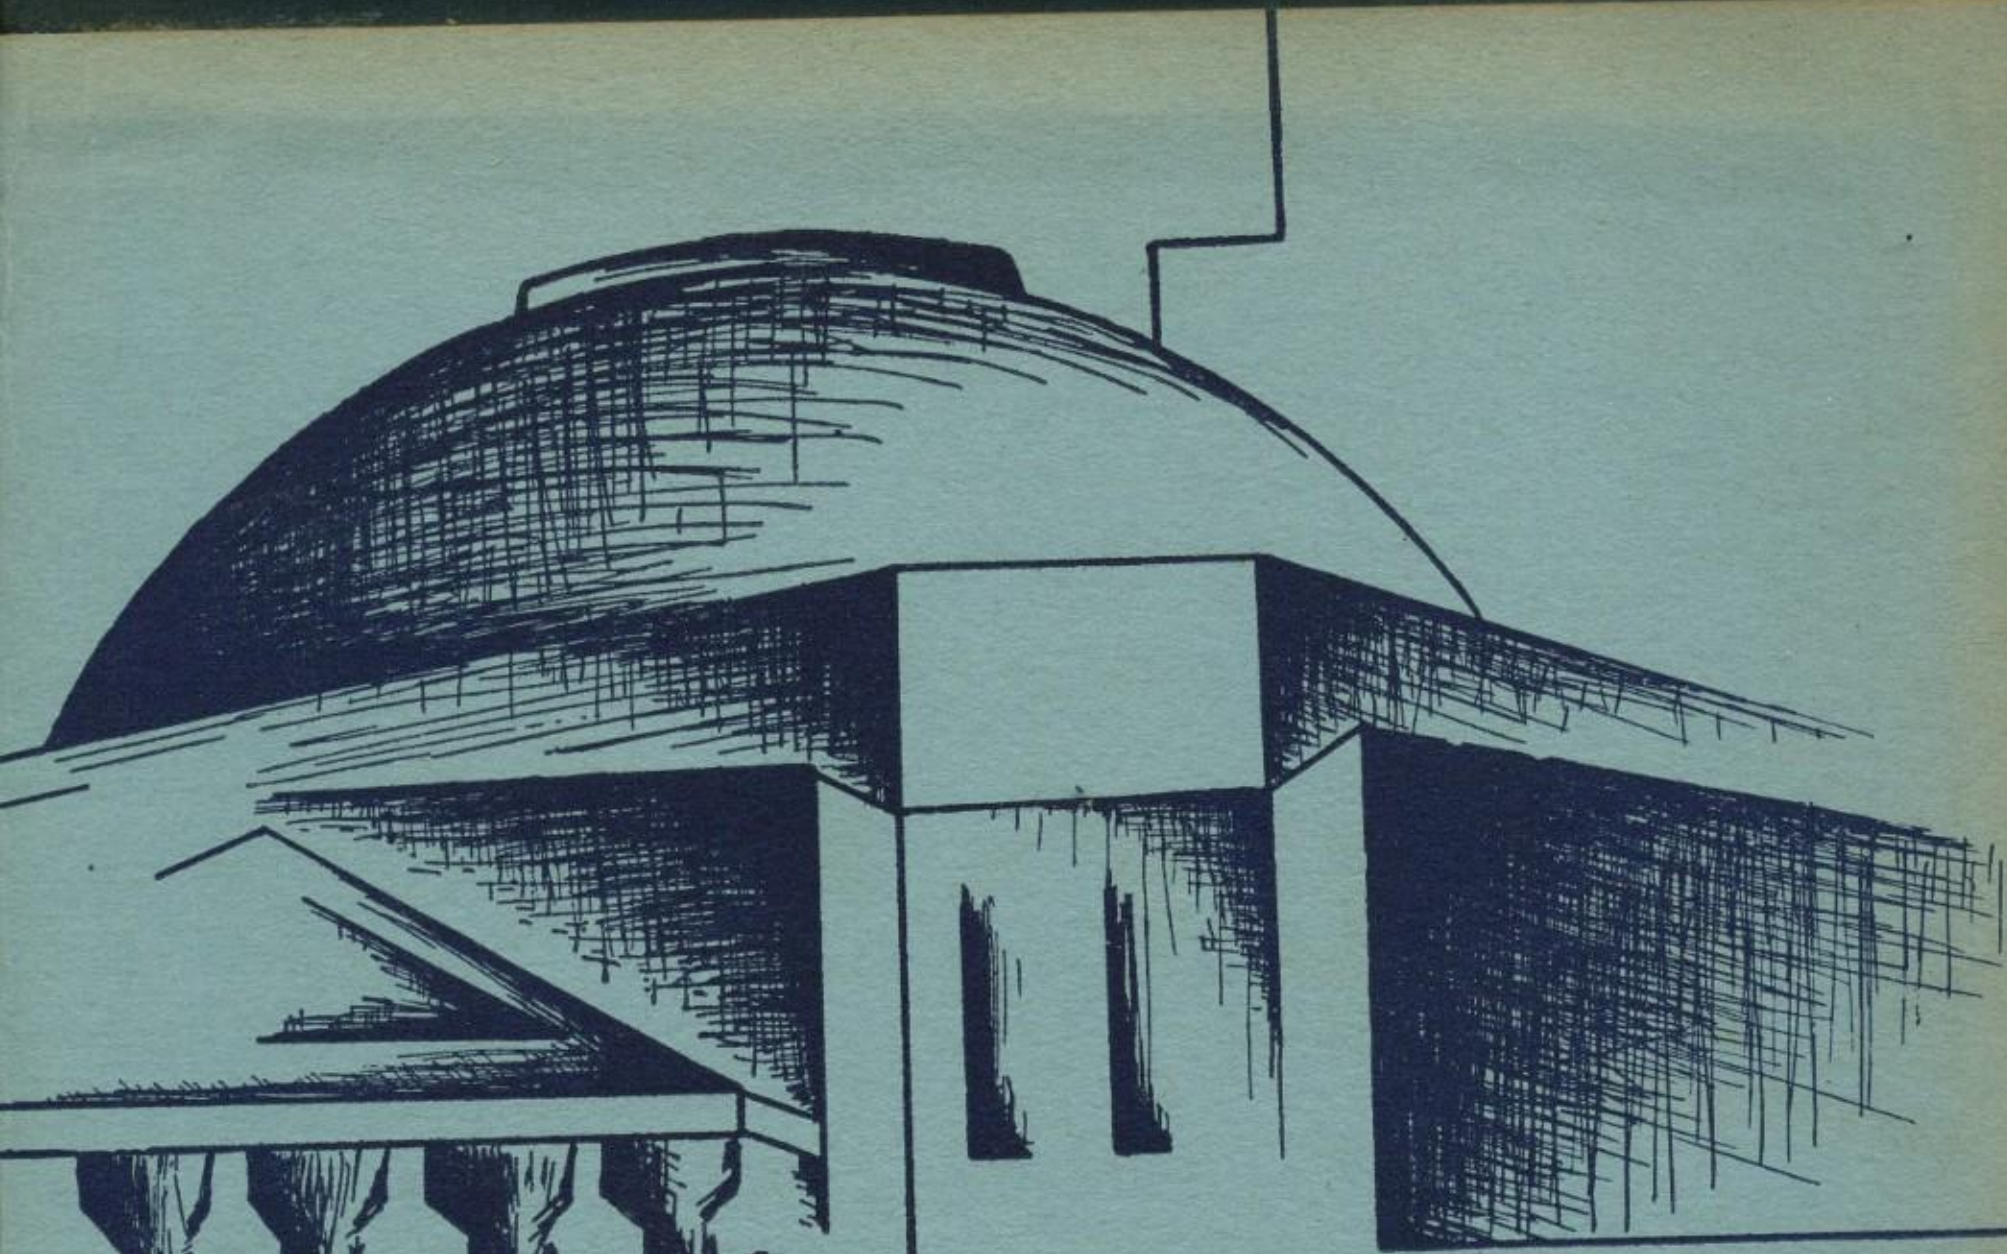

The faculty, the office force, and the student body in general who all gave us the utmost cooperation. If we were impolite or overzealous at times, we apologize; for we know how fortunate we were to have such helpful and understanding support.

Finally Miss Elda Baechle and Mr. Edward Dauterich who patiently helped and counceled us throughout the year. Without their inspiration and encouragement, we would have been lost.
